

BOMFORD Buccaneer

Available in working widths of 1.30m to 2.50m, the new Buccaneer range is designed to quickly and efficiently reduce standing or cut vegetation and stumps up to 300mm (1ft) thick, into fine shreds in a single pass. To achieve this, the Buccaneer can be specified with either hard faced swinging hammers mounted onto a heavy duty 40mm diameter shaft, or alternatively for really heavy duty work, fixed hammers fitted with replaceable tungsten carbide teeth can be specified that are able to incorporate the mulched material into the soil.

Suitable for use with tractors of between 40hp to 200hp, in order to ensure maximum transfer of power features a heavy duty gearbox. The robust build of the Buccaneer is evident in that the smaller 2.25m wide model weighs 1995kg with the wider 2.50m machine weighing 2,100Kgs. Mounted on the rear of the Buccaneer HDX is a robust twin tube push bar that can be used to initially push over standing trees and vegetation, so making it easier for the blades or hammers to start mulching the vegetation. The Buccaneer also features a hydraulic hood which can be opened to allow access of larger vegetation or lowered to retain and increase the mulching effect, it also inhibits debris from flying out the rear of the machine. The standard specification of the new Bomford Buccaneer HDX includes a front double-row chain guard, Cat 2/3 three-point linkage and heavy-duty replaceable skids. A front mounted version of the Buccaneer HDX is also available.
